Castle Museum Heats Up With 'A Night of Jazz'

SAGINAW, Mich. – Though it is getting colder outside, the Castle Museum of Saginaw County History is heating up with a performance titled 'A Night of Jazz' that fuses music and the gift of giving.

Saginaw native and saxophonist Chet Allen will perform several festive ballads Thursday, Dec. 13 at the Castle Museum. Doors open at 6:30 p.m. with the holiday concert kicking off at 7 p.m.

For entry to the concert, visitors must donate at least one non-perishable food item. These items will be given to the City Rescue Mission.

"The kicker to the event involves the gift of giving," said Marketing and Events Coordinator Alex Jones. "We want guests to relax as they enjoy Chet's jazz performance and understand that their contribution big or small will create a huge impact in the Saginaw community."

For more information, please contact 989-752-2861 ext. 315 or visit www.castlemuseum.org.

The Historical Society of Saginaw County is committed to serving the community by telling the continuing story of the people of the Saginaw region through exploration, preservation and presentation of their historical and cultural heritage.

About Chet Allen

Saxophonist Chet Allen learned to play the saxophone while attending Ricker Jr. High School. As a teenager, he played in local bands such as: 'Mind Body and Soul,' 'The Countdowns,' 'Maximum Effect' and 'The Native Sons.' Chet later studied music theory and piano at Delta College. Since retiring in 2008 from the City of Saginaw, Chet now performs at various venues, turning his passion into a new profession.
